This month's performance vs. S&P 500

Analyst's notes

The war in Iran hit our economy on the tail end of the "SaaS-pocalypse." Combined with structural failures within the Private Credit industry has caused a major economic downturn.

While we remain ahead of the S&P 500 YTD, we've deepened our losses by continuing to buy into a falling market.

Our team stands by this decision - we view a downturn, even an extended one, as a valuable opportunity to buy into long term holdings.

When the market recovers, we expect our strong positions in materials and industrials to give us a significant lead on the broader market.

Disclosure: Under our current investment strategy and based on 59 holdings across winners and losers, Our fund's stock selections outperformed the S&P 500 by approximately 3.24% from 01/01/2026 to 01/26/2026
