This month's performance vs. S&P 500

Analyst's notes

We saw a strong recovery at the tail end of March and into early April, outpacing the S&P for most of the month.

Our gains were tempered by and end-of-the-month drop in defense stocks. We expect these to rally as the global conflict cycle continues.

Activity was low, as this past month was mostly about seeing the our theses play out, and rebuilding our cash reserves with continued fund allocation.

Wish cash reserves back up, we'll be looking at entry points for securities in some of our latest reports. We acquired a single share of IVEP upon its IPO.

Disclosure: Under our current investment strategy and based on 59 holdings across winners and losers, Our fund's stock selections outperformed the S&P 500 by approximately 3.24% from 01/01/2026 to 05/01/2026
